POPULAR GAGE WATERPROOF GEAR BAGS NOW AVAILABLE IN BLACK AND NEW CAMOUFLAGE

Shackelton Duffel Bag and Rumrunner Backpack Now Offered in Unique Kryptek Camo Pattern

For 2014, Grundéns USA has added new camouflage versions of its highly popular Waterproof Gear Bags to its growing Gage Technical Gear line.

Both the 105-liter Shackelton Duffel and 30-liter Rumrunner backpack now come in a choice of traditional Black or new Kryptek camouflage. This versatile camo pattern is attractive, distinctive and highly functional in a variety of environments. It is the perfect compliment to the “manly” styling and rugged, down-to-earth performance of these popular waterproof bags.

Both of these rugged bags are tailored from 500 Denier PVC Tarpaulin Fabric with 100-percent RF welded seams and roll-top closures to keep clothing, tackle, ammunition, electronics and other gear dry and protected in the wettest and wildest conditions. They are built for use on the high seas, wild rivers or in the backwoods, and are ideal for fishing, hunting, camping or any outdoor adventure.

With its cavernous carrying capacity, the Shackelton Duffel can stow enough gear for extended journeys. Its well-thought-out design includes a three-fold roll-top closure for a waterproof seal, along with sturdy padded backpack straps that hide in a zippered compartment in the bag’s bottom panel when not in use. With its heavy-duty carrying straps and backpack option, this pack is a versatile way to transport and protect vital equipment like cameras, GPS units, marine electronics and more.

The Rumrunner Backpack also features a roll-top closure for a fully waterproof seal. A moisture wicking, padded back panel provides increased comfort during long treks and strenuous activities. In addition to its large main compartment, the Rumrunner features a convenient front mesh pocket with retention straps, two water bottle pockets and sturdy padded shoulder straps for increased comfort. A thick webbed waist strap helps position the backpack and secures loads during strenuous outdoor activities.

The new Gage Shackelton Duffel carries a manufacturer's suggested retail price of $112; the Gage Rumrunner Backpack retails for $83. Both are available through authorized Grundens USA retailers nationwide.
